

Use this worksheet to track your progress* as you play and experiment with the 3 tools.

"...of all the events that have the power to excite people and engage them in their work, the single most important is making progress – even if that progress is a small win. That's the progress principle. And, because people are more creatively productive when they are excited and engaged, small wins are a very big deal for organizations." Theresa Amabile and Steven Kramer, The Progress Principle – Using Small Wins to Ignite Joy, Engagement, and Creativity at Work

©Mary Corrigan @ www.creativity4us.com